Thank you for the e mail and update. We will expect the drillholes to be plugged no later than December 9, 2013. Please consider this message as approval for the extension request for submitting the bond associated with the permit transfer. We will expect the bond by February 12, 2014.

Paul,

Please allow this email to follow up on our discussion of last week.

Per our discussion,

TMC Capita can confirm the following:

1. The chemicals that were subject of your department's concern have been removed.
2. The bore holes are in the process of being identified and filled in, as necessary.
3. We are still in the process of negotiating with the mining contractor and as such require an additional 90 day extension to finalize the process and to replace or extend present reclamation bonds. Accordingly, we request granting of the extension to allow us to finalize the process for the period of 90 days.
